

Guidelines for changing the language of the “Member of the WFFM” logo

National Federations can decide whether or not to use the translated version of the 'Member of the WFFM' logo in their own national or local languages for themselves and/or their local associations.

How?

By editing the English version of the logo in AI format, which is available in blue, black, white and outlined white.

It is available on request to the WFFM General Secretary at communication@thewffm.org

Rules:

- The logo colours must remain unchanged.
- Only 'Member of the' can be translated.
- The translation must use the same font: HELVETICA.
- The translation must fit within the same space as the original text and maintain the same alignment.
- No additional text, symbols or logos may be added.
- National Federations are responsible for ensuring the accuracy of the translation in their language.

Validation:

Before use, the created version must be validated by the WFFM. To do this, send the file to communication@thewffm.org
